The Reminiscence will recall the past memories of our project management students and this will make all of our current students meet our former students and develop a close relationship with them. The Project Management Club was held many events such as webinars, workshops, photography contests, community awareness programs, and contributed to various faculty development projects. I congratulate the president, the executive committee and all the members of the PM club for hosting PM day and issuing the pages of reminiscence.

MESSAGE FROM THE HEAD

I am pleased to issue this message on the occasion of the release of the 2nd Reminiscence on the 2nd International Project Management Day celebration of the Department of Project Management of the Faculty of Business Studies of the University of Vavuniya.

International Project Management Day is annually observed on the first Thursday of November which means this year it falls on the 3rd of November. This day is all about appreciating the vital role project managers play nationally and internationally and it recognizes their contribution to making our work possible all over the world.

Without project managers, government organizations, non-government organizations, and small to mega projects companies take on will be frankly impossible to achieve. LaVerne Johnson and Lori Milhaven of the International Institute of Learning (I.I.L.) created this day to give project managers the spotlight and appreciation they deserve.

As a state university that pioneers the first-ever undergraduate degree programme in Project Management, we have the delight to mark International Project Management Day in order to honour the successful Project Managers, to motivate education on Project Management, to share knowledge and understanding on Project Management, and to make people aware of the importance of projects in making the better and sustainable world for the present and future.

This year the Reminiscence carries the memories of our 3rd batch of Project Management Graduates who entered the PM Degree Programme through their 2016 G. C. E. A/L examination. My hope is that they would have undergone a happy and fruitful learning experience and it will lead them to continuous success in their career path and beautiful life. I take this opportunity to congratulate all the achievers and successful Graduates of the Year 2016 batch during the felicitation of the International Project Management Day 2022.

THOUGHTS BY THE SENIOR ADVISOR

I'm happy to send this message in conjunction with the publication of the Second Reminiscence on the occasion of the Second International Project Management Day -2022 commemoration by the Project Management Club of the D Business Studies of the University of Vavuniya. I'm delighted to see the "Pages of Reminiscence" of the last year students from the Project Management students published.

This year's Reminiscence honors our third batch of project management graduates, who had a beneficial learning experience over the course of their three years of study and who will go on to succeed in their careers as very effective project managers.

This pamphlet will undoubtedly help students from different geographical, religious, and cultural backgrounds connect with one another and build their ties with one another. The names, phone numbers, email addresses, and birthdates of the pupils are all listed in this booklet, which makes it quite helpful.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate all the successful graduates who will be honored for International Project Management Day celebration -2022.

“With best wishes from God and sincere greetings”

University Experience

The greatest achievement of my life

University entrance

I learned a lot at the university of Vavuniya

I gained a new perspective on life

I faced many struggles, but

Struggles gave the way to victory.

I got a lot of good vibes

I met many good-hearted lectures

Friendship transcends ethnicity and languages.

The great lesson in my life is,

“If we want to succeed in life,

we have to experience all the joys and sorrows”.

My sincere thanks to everyone.

The Dream....

After many years of waiting
I achieved a dream
That is called a university
The very first day, I was scary
The next day was gusty... and
I feel it is like my home
Lectures are like my parents, and
My friends are like my siblings
I experienced joy, sorrow, struggle
But realized the greatness of education!
The blessing of my life is university life.

My University Life

In student life, no doubt University life is the most memorable and charming time. In university life, students can be responsible and sensible. This is the main stage of your personal development as compared to school life. There is also freedom of action for a student from family comparatively school. This is because, after the successful completion of university life most students know that they will further go to professional life so, the sensible university life leads to the best professional life for them. University life is the main foundation of building a professional attitude.
